The Global Programs Network (GPN) is comprised of individuals in senior management positions who oversee their institution’s global activities. The GPN shares global networking and exchange programs; best practices and success stories; and explores additional resources and information on global operations, legal implications, and international collaboration.

As a GPN member, you have access to the AAHC International Collaborations Database. This worksheet contains instructions for using this database.
